

You're in shock. How did you get here? Babies change everything. Your life can't be the same as it was before. Your baby wasn't the only person born new that day. You're new now too. Find yourself again, redefine what you stand for, what you care about and what's worth your time and attention.

It's a new day.